

Piera Pasinelli,

Dr Pasinelli graduated in Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Technology from the University of Milan at 1992 and holds a PhD Degree in Neurobiochemistry from the University of Utrecht, obtained at 1996 at Rudolf Magnus Institute of Neurosciences. From 1996 to 2000 she worked as a Post-Doctoral Fellow at Massachusetts General Hospital, Harvard Medical School, Boston MA (USA), where she subsequently covered the position of an Assistant in Neurobiology and Instructor in Neurology. Currently, she is an Assistant Professor of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology at Thomas Jefferson University, Philadelphia, where she takes part of an admission and examination committee for PhD program in Neuroscience.

She acts as ad hoc reviewer of research projects for Telethon Foundation (Italy), and Motor Neuron disease Association (UK), as well as paper reviewer for a number of international scientific journals (Proceedings of National Academy of Sciences, U.S.A., Journal of Neurochemistry, Neurobiology of Disease, Neurology, Free Radical Biology & Medicine, Oncogene, Cell Death and Differentiation, Lancet Neurology, Journal Biological Chemistry).

She is a Science Director and a Chair of the Scientific Advisory Board at Robert Packard Center for ALS Research, at Johns Hopkins. She is also a member of the Scientific committee of the American ALS Association and member of the Scientific Advisory Board at AriSLA.